Forged Aluminum Caps and Plugs with Chains...

(Patents Pending)

...Thieves won't like them.

In response to continued brass theft and vandalism that leaves threads unprotected, Fire Protection Products Inc. (FPPI) offers an industry first, Forged Aluminum Caps with Chains. These forged T6061 aluminum alternatives withstand similar pressures to their brass cousins and are anodized to look like brass while improving corrosion resistance. Would be thieves and vandals are discouraged by the weight of the metal immediately letting them know that these are not brass parts and won't bring the same high salvage value. Our pin lug design is compatible with all fire service pin lug hydrant wrenches. Suitable for fire protection or industrial use.

Brass Check Snoots

Typically used on multiple inlet fire department connections to help prevent backflow of water into connected supply lines. Manufactured of cast brass and available in two finishes. Select polished brass or polished chrome. Breakable caps or a male NST plug should be installed to protect swivels and prevent debris from being accidentally introduced into the water way. UL Listed.
